

Open Letter to Students

“When the student is ready, the master appears...”

This ancient idiom is in fact the mother of all analogies, for life itself is the ultimate master, and man, the ultimate student...

All institutions of “higher learning” represent fixed points of reference for the consolidation and proliferation of a social, economic and cultural ideal. Those entering and graduating from such institutions are indoctrinated to accept and perpetuate this consensus ideal, so as to reinforce the paradigm structures set by the social engineers who build, fund and control the way we live, think and participate in our being.

The analogy of the student and master therefore, has the greatest implications as it pertains to the present times, because the contemporary pupil/teacher paradigm structures of education will no longer be tolerated by the rising consciousness index of the collective planetary mind.

The noticeable shift in the currents of the human thought-stream has led to the gathering of like minds not associated with the corporate education-complex. Public education has been exposed as a system of seduction created to hypnotize and indoctrinate the natural senses of the body, so that the general population is programmed to believe that what they see of the world, is all there is of the world.

This anesthetizing of the world-psyche is indeed a colonization of the collective mind, which individually functions as the center of thought, feelings and behavior to consciously and unconsciously adjust the body to its social, physical and psychological environments.

Thus education today is solely for the construction and mass-production of passive, well indoctrinated, compliant consumer-drones.

The rapid decline and impending destruction of every phase of the present paradigm-structures of thought, has raised a global challenge to progressive circles of creative free thinkers, to hold fast and build upon the evolutionary vision of a new consciousness index of time and perception.

And it was to meet this very challenge that the University of Kemetian Sciences was imagined, created and designated

Our mission statement, or “self-imposed duty” (A.H.Dictionary) is to create an undefiled, circum-centric environment of learning to nurture critical thinking, inductive reasoning, pragmatic analysis and discovery.

Our Kemetiversity was established to help guide earnest seekers of the hidden light to penetrate the veil of deception and illusion imposed by the dream-weavers of false power and control.

At the University of Kemetian Sciences, the mission is mastery, and the quest of mastery is the ultimate mission.

When the student attracts the master, he or she is taught to realize the master within - and once realized, is ultimately humbled by the knowledge that the only true master, is the master that forever remains the student.

Yours in the quest of light,

Dr. Phillip Valentine
